

RETRAINING PROGRAM FOR IMMIGRANT ENGINEERS

ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS NOW FOR FALL 2020

The deadline to apply for this free program is

Wednesday September 30 for classes that begin in October.

The RPIE program provides a high quality professional educational experience to prepare immigrant engineers and technologists for employment in New York City's vibrant workforce by providing professional training to recent immigrants and refugees who possess engineering or technology degrees or have equivalent experience in their home countries so that they are competitive for the U.S. Workforce.

RPIE engineering and technology courses translate the technical knowledge and skills gained in your home country to the standards required by the U.S. and NYC workforce.

Students receive access to the dedicated faculty at Cooper Union who bring expertise and deep knowledge of their industries.

Professional networking opportunities with industry leaders and role models help program graduates move into well-paying careers.

CLASSES OFFERED

OSHA, Green Building, HVAC, Building Systems, NEC, Cost Estimating, AISC Steel, ACI Concrete, AutoCAD, Java, C#, Linux, Android, SQA, SQL, and Cybersecurity.

The RPIE program welcomes immigrant professionals to participate in this free program who:

- are work-authorized in the U.S.A.
- hold a Bachelor's degree or higher with professional experience in engineering, IT, or related fields from their country of origin OR have equivalent work experience
- are unemployed, or work in a field unrelated to their education
- have intermediate+ English proficiency
- demonstrate a financial need

FREE ONLINE CLASSES
JOB PLACEMENT
CAREER COACHING
FOR IMMIGRANTS AND REFUGEES

For more information and to apply:

cooper.edu/immigrant-retraining

Or contact CAMBA Program

Supervisor Sangita Shrestha

cooperunionretraining@camba.org

Office: 718.226.0437

Cell: 929.271.4650

The RPIE Program is brought to you by:

Made possible with generous support from:

